De 103 títulos analizados se contabilizaron 3147 especies de aves totalizando más de c.12.300 cortes. Esa cantidad de especies comparada con las 4453 para América, indica que hasta el momento cerca de tres cuartos de las aves americanas (70,6%) se encuentran representadas por sonidos en guías auditivas. Los restantes 56 títulos que todavía quedan por cargar en la base de datos sin duda acrecentará estas cifras ya de por sí llamativas.

Independientemente a si un producto ya no existe en el mercado, la idea de esta presentación radica en considerar de la misma que uno lo hace con su propia biblioteca sobre temas ornitológicos específicos, la posibilidad de consultar sonidos publicados. Y de no poder obtenerlos mediante su compra o copiado en caso de números agotados, no por ello ignorar que existen y poder procurarlos. Sorprendentemente, muchas bibliotecas de universidades y facultades dedicadas a la biología y ornitología no cuentan con estas colecciones, por lo cual esperamos hacer notar tal necesidad ante la presentación de este compendio. Asimismo, también puede ser útil para tener en cuenta a cuáles especies debe dársele mayor prevalencia al momento de publicar guías sonoras, más allá del facilismo de decidir que cualquier grabación estará bien para ser publicada ya sea por su calidad óptima, considerar que se trate de una subespecie diferente en una región no muestreada, o constituir un ejemplo más que nunca viene mal. Para aquellos casos en que los noventa y nueve cortes de un CD sean escasos ante una muestra mayor, con esta presentación se espera influir sobre quienes tomen tales decisiones; pues no es lo mismo elegir una especie de las que ya están mencionadas en este compendio, a otra con una grabación nunca antes publicada.

Cómo interpretar la información presentada:

Nótese en itálicas el género, especie y subespecie, seguido de nombre vernáculo en inglés (específico y genérico). El o los autores antedeceden el año de la publicación, título y editor a modo de cita bibliográfica. Para todos los casos se indica en la primera columna (Nro.) el número consecutivo del compendio. La segunda columna (Cantidad) indica el número de unidades que presenta un título. Por unidades se entiende el número de LPs, casetes, Cds o CD Roms que conforman un producto. La tercera columna (Lado A/B) indica de que lado de un casete o LP se encuentra el corte. La cuarta columna (Pista) indica en que corte se encuentra el sonido de determinada especie, respetando el número indicado en el producto original. Para los casos en que no existen listas numéricas (por ejemplo en algunos casetes), se agregó una numeración según el orden de aparición de los cortes como se presenta para los discos compactos. Abrir el archivo «Catálogo.xls» como hoja de cálculo en el CD.

CATALOGUE OF AUDIO GUIDES TO THE BIRDS OF THE AMERICAS

CATALOGO DAS GUIAS SONORAS DAS AVES DE AMERICA

Listado de grabaciones comerciales para las especies de aves del continente americano.

Prefacio

"Catálogo de Guías Sonoras para las Aves de América (Versión I: agosto 2001)" es una herramienta que permite al usuario hallar con facilidad qué especies de aves del continente americano e islas adyacentes se hallan representadas mediante sonidos en discos de acetato, casetes, discos compactos o CD Roms comerciales. Mediante una búsqueda sistemática y/o taxonómica, cualquier especie que cuente con grabaciones comerciales presenta por taxa información sobre género, especie, nombre genérico y específico en inglés, autor/es, año, título, editor, y ubicación de la grabación por el número del corte en la cinta o disco.

Si bien este proyecto comenzó como una ambición impráctica por lo complejo de la reunión de datos y su ordenamiento, era necesario contar con un catálogo de este tipo. Como ornitólogo recorrido en varios países de Sudamérica (BLL), y más allá de la pasión por los sonidos de las aves, la barrera más abrupta respecto en dónde conseguir grabaciones siempre fue la desinformación. Es decir: dónde preguntar o hallar datos sobre sonidos de aves. Uno mismo, inclusive con la utilización recurrente de la Internet, muchas veces no cuenta con más de una veintena de títulos en mente, y a menudo muchos menos en la 'mochila' o biblioteca.

Luego de una búsqueda meticulosa se calculó que a esta fecha, agosto de 2001, existen y existieron en el mercado 159 trabajos para las Américas, de los cuales la mayoría se pueden obtener de manera ortodoxa vía Internet o escribiendo a los autores. Según parece, tal vez recurrir al proceso lento de contactar a un banco de sonidos no siempre es la idea más práctica; y de un análisis cuidadoso, ya con casi tres cuartas partes de los títulos cargados a este compendio, 3147 especies de aves de las 4453 para el continente cuentan con grabaciones disponibles al público general!.

Pero en este esfuerzo repleto de horas y meses de tedio ocupando tiempos libres, ni nuestro 'bolsillo' ni capacidad de querer contar con todos los trabajos a la venta permitieron que lográramos hacernos del tercio de los títulos que faltan. Es decir, si bien en esta primera versión queda cubierto y actualizado casi todo el Neotrópico incluyendo desde los primeros LPs de D.Frisch y J.Linbland hasta las últimas presentaciones de este año, Norteamérica no ha quedado totalmente representada.

En un apéndice se indica cuales trabajos todavía no han sido ingresados a la base de datos; y si de la totalidad que se conoce faltan varios títulos (por eso esta versión es preliminar), estaríamos muy agradecidos en recibir esa información mediante listados o aviso de publicaciones nuevas, para lo cual damos nuestra dirección. Por lo mismo, de igual modo que este trabajo y sus actualizaciones son sin ánimos de lucro, no nos disgustaría contar con la petición de autores y editores para que se incluyan sus títulos a cambio de una copia de los productos (de ser posible), o bien el listado de especies. En tal sentido esta fue la visión de N. Krabbe, J. Vielliard y J. Moore, quienes nos han apoyado de manera invalorable.

Esperamos contar con sus críticas, peticiones de cambios o modificaciones, consejo, y sin lugar a dudas: amistad para con este compendio siempre actualizable. Aquellos que trabajen en el Neotrópico hallaran que sólo faltan por considerar 13 títulos; y para el neártico no está nada mal haber enlistado la mayoría de los trabajos más representativos de la región.

Por otro lado, independientemente a si un producto ya no existe en el mercado, la idea de esta presentación radica en considerar de la misma manera que uno lo hace con su propia biblioteca sobre temas ornitológicos específicos, la posibilidad de consultar sonidos publicados. Y de no poder obtenerlos mediante su compra o copiado en caso de números agotados, no por ello ignorar que existen y poder procurarlos en sitios adecuados. Sorprendentemente, muchas bibliotecas de universidades y facultades dedicadas a la biología y ornitología no cuentan con estas colecciones, por lo cual esperamos hacer notar tal necesidad ante la presentación de un compendio como este.

Asimismo, este trabajo también puede ser útil para tener en cuenta a cuales especies debe dársele mayor prevalencia al momento de publicar guías sonoras, más allá del facilismo de decidir que cualquier grabación estará bien para ser publicada ya sea por su calidad óptima, considerar que se trate de una subespecie diferente en una región no muestreada, o constituir un ejemplo más que nunca viene mal. Para aquellos casos en que los noventa y nueve cortes de un CD sean escasos ante una muestra mayor, con esta presentación se espera influir sobre quienes tomen tales decisiones; pues no es lo mismo elegir una especie de las que ya están mencionadas en este compendio, a otra con una grabación nunca antes publicada.

De esta manera esperamos haber demostrado no haber perdido el tiempo preparando este catálogo; ofreciendo un producto útil para el estudio de la ornitología, la conservación de las aves, y su identificación mediante sonidos.

Metodología

En este trabajo se considera guía sonora o auditiva a cualquier producto que presente grabaciones de sonidos con un listado de especies animales por orden de aparición, y permita su identificación a medida que corre el audio. Aquellos títulos con música u otros arreglos ajenos a las condiciones naturales propias del entorno, fueron descartados por no considerarse estrictamente guías sonoras: aún así presenten listado de especies por orden de aparición en el audio y/o cuadernillos. Se descartaron también presentaciones con sonidos de aves que no contaban con listados de especies para su identificación (la identificación de esos sonidos por parte de los compiladores van más allá del alcance de este trabajo).

Se compiló la totalidad de títulos comerciales existentes que ofrecieran audio de sonidos de aves en el continente americano (discos en acetato-LPs, casetes, discos compactos-CDs y CD Roms). Se descartaron los videos por carecer de listados de especies por orden de aparición de las mismas. Trabajos que incluyeran islas o archipiélagos oceánicos como Galápagos y Hawaii fueron incluidos acorde al listado de especies para las aves de América tomado de BirdLife International (1997), y en general por formar parte del continente en el aspecto geopolítico.

Se tomó nota de todas las etiquetas, librillos y tapas de los títulos revisados, para respaldar y reconsultar los datos desde una única fuente de información. Se procedió a incluir los datos únicamente con esta información, dispuesta de manera organizada por orden alfabético, ordenado por el apellido del primer autor. La fuente de información y acceso a cada título se procuró de colecciones personales e institucionales como figura en agradecimientos. Algunos títulos fueron obtenidos por donación ante petición expresa presentando los motivos del proyecto. Se descartaron en todos los casos títulos de producción personal carentes de ediciones para al público (independientemente al ánimo de lucro), con el fin de excluir grabaciones fuera de mercado y de uso privado.

La compilación se realizó utilizando una sola planilla, agregándose la información obtenida de cada producto en columnas y en el siguiente orden: números de LPs, CDs, casetes o CD Roms para cada título. En el caso de casetes y LPs se anotó el lado (A o B) en el cual aparece la especie. En el caso de LPs o CDs se registró el número de banda o corte (tracks), y en el caso de casetes se enumeraron los cortes por orden de aparición de las especies. Las presentaciones en Cd Roms no muestran número de corte debido a su ordenamiento sistemático y/o virtual. En ningún caso se analizaron productos en sistemas DAT, DVD o Mini Disc por no existir para América ningún título comercial bajo esta modalidad. Se anotó género, especie y subespecie siguiendo el orden sistemático y la taxonomía presentada en BirdLife International (1997).

En el caso de que algún nombre en el producto difiriera del género o especie dados en el listado patrón, se anotaron ambos: el estándar del listado y entre paréntesis el nombre diferente. Con la nominación vernácula en inglés, en todos los casos figura el nombre aparecido en BirdLife International (1997); más el nombre original del producto indicado entre paréntesis (siempre y cuando sea diferente). De esta manera se pretende evitar desinformar al usuario respecto a la posibilidad de considerar una subespecie según la nominación original del nombre vernáculo, o bien hallar la especie según el nombre que aparece en la fuente. Se prevé que el usuario recurra al "sentido común" en cuanto a la interpretación de cual subespecie o subespecie elevada a especie se refiere cada autor en particular (especialmente con títulos de más de una década desde su aparición), debido a la separación o conjunción de taxones en los listados sistemáticos.

Los nombres en inglés se separaron en diferentes columnas, primero el específico y luego el genérico, de la misma manera que los nombres científicos. Esto mejora la velocidad de lectura y permite realizar con mayor calidad filtros o funciones de 'búsqueda' en las hojas de cálculo. Para todos los casos los autores se anotaron en columnas seguidas según orden de aparición y por nombre, sin excepción comenzando por el o los apellidos y anotando sólo las siglas de los prenombrados. El o los años de edición (más de un año en caso de más de una edición), se colocaron en una columna anterior al título. El título del producto propiamente dicho se escribió completo, inclusive con los subtítulos para un mayor detalle. Por último se agregaron los datos del editor / productor.

En caso de más de una edición por título se cargaron los datos pertenecientes a la versión más reciente. En las ocasiones en que los autores indican especies acompañantes a un especie tratada como principal, se anotó el dato con el mismo número de corte. Por lo mismo, en algunos casos se presentan taxones ajenos a la temática de un título, por ejemplo Tinámidos en un producto dedicado a Dendrocoláptidos.

El número total de especies indicado en este compendio debe considerarse como ajustable; pues sin duda será ligeramente diferente si se realiza un análisis detallado de la nomenclatura presentada.

Notas:

- Schulenberg (2000a y b) y Schulenberg et al. (2000a,b y c), casi sin excepción presenta los mismos cortes que Cornell Laboratory of Ornithology (1997a,b,c, y d).

- Se ha comprobado que en esta versión (Versión I: agosto de 2001) la información referente a Krabbe (1999a y b) en algunos casos carece de la mención de algunas subespecies (existentes en el producto original). Por otra parte, como en estas presentaciones en multimedia no figura ninguna numeración para los cortes, excepto el orden virtual, no se puede indicar al usuario cuando una especie se encuentra representada como acompañante (especies secundarias): por dar un ejemplo, en esta base de datos no se puede indicar dónde hallar numéricamente casos tales como Buteogallus meridionalis, especie que en el volumen I de no passeriformes no se encuentra representada, pero que sí aparece entre sub-oscines en el volumen II.

- Como meros compiladores BLL y VC no se hacen responsables de los errores u omisiones en que pudieran incurrir algunos autores de las guías sonoras, para lo cual se solicita el buen criterio y sentido común por parte del usuario.

Resultados Generales y Comentarios

Nota: Sección en modificación permanente por la necesidad de actualización de los datos.

Se rastrearon 159 títulos publicados, más 7 en preparación: completando 166 títulos conocidos. El Neotrópico presenta 76 títulos, el Neártico 62, tres títulos son globales y 13 abarcan América en general. De 159 títulos publicados 103 fueron analizados e ingresados en la base de datos, faltando los 56 títulos restantes (o 63 títulos restantes si se incluyen los trabajos en preparación = 7).

De los 74 títulos exclusivos para el Neotrópico fueron cargados 61 y restan por ingresar 13; a saber: Egli Müller (1980?), Ferraro (2001?), Huguet y Tostain (?), Gonzaga y Castiglioni (2001), Gilardi (1997), Mathew (sin año a y b), Roché (2000a y c), Rosane (?), Ross (sin año) y Schwartz (sin año a y b), ver apéndice 1. Por lo tanto, en esta versión la base de datos cubre un 82 % del Neotrópico.

El Neártico presenta 67 títulos, de los cuales fueron cargados 33 y restan por analizar 34 (ver apéndice 1). Por lo tanto esta región se encuentra representada en un 49,2 %, con los títulos más importantes ya ingresados al compendio. Por 'más importantes' se entiende a aquellos títulos con cubrimiento continental (=Norteamérica), o regiones. En varios casos estos productos acompañan a las guías para la identificación de aves de norteamérica. Algunos títulos que faltan por incluir, por ejemplo Peterson, ed. (año ? a, b y c), son versiones en

CD Rom muy similares a las grabaciones presentadas en productos ya cargados como Cornell Laboratory of Ornithology (1990, 1992) y Walton & Lawson (1989a y b, 1991, 1994), por tratarse de la misma colección (Peterson Field Guide Series); lo mismo sucede con la colección de la National Geographic Society.

También faltan por incluir en el compendio tres títulos de cubrimiento global, abarcando tanto el neotrópico como el neártico: Ranft (1998), Koenig et al (1999), y Koenig y Ranft (2001). Y se encuentran cargados a la base de datos la totalidad de todos los trabajos para las Américas (títulos por familia),.

De 103 títulos analizados se contabilizaron 3147 especies de aves totalizando más de c.12.300 cortes. Esta cantidad de especies comparada con las 4453* para América, indica que hasta el momento cerca de tres cuartos de las aves americanas (70,6 %) se encuentran representadas por sonidos en guías auditivas. Los restantes 56(63) títulos que todavía quedan por cargar en la base de datos sin duda acrecentará estas cifras ya de por sí llamativas.

*Total tomado de BirdLife International 1997 (4342 especies), más 111 extras respetando la taxonomía original de los autores en 103 títulos analizados.

Nota^a: López-Lanús y Caro (en prep.) realizan un análisis detallado de los resultados de este compendio comparando porcentajes de disponibilidad de grabaciones entre géneros y familias, porcentajes de cobertura por regiones y países, listado de especies amenazadas con representación en guías auditivas, etc., para lo cual será necesario incluir los datos de los títulos que faltan.

Nota^b: Cada versión será actualizada cada seis meses. Se recomienda seguir consultando esta página web al menos dos veces por año (fin de junio, fin de diciembre) con el fin de actualizar datos. Primera entrega (Versión I: agosto de 2001).

Listado de guías sonoras por especie

La base de datos está presentada en hojas de cálculo. Los títulos en la parte superior de cada columna se entienden por si mismos. El Apéndice 1 detalla los datos bibliográficos para cada obra tratada a manera de literatura citada. El Apéndice 2 describe algunas direcciones en Internet donde obtener los productos (guías sonoras).

Este compendio es completamente gratuito y de alguna manera 'informal', no obstante los compiladores solicitan ser considerados en el caso de mencionarse este trabajo en cualquier publicación. Por lo tanto cítese como: López-Lanús, B. y Caro, V. (2001) Catálogo de Guías Auditivas para las Aves de América / Catalogue of Audio Guides to the Birds of the Americas. URL: <http://www...>

ACCESO CATÁLOGO (ver archivo adjunto = Catálogo.xls).

IMPORTANTE

Los filtros en hojas de cálculo pueden acarrear la no visualización de datos, en apariencia debido a la disponibilidad de memoria Ram en el computador. Se recomienda realizar búsquedas mediante la función Control + B.

Agradecimientos

No podemos dejar de mencionar en primera instancia a Jacques Vielliard, John V. Moore y Niels Krabbe por las donaciones desinteresadas de varios títulos bajo sus autorías. A Walter H. Weber, Mauricio Álvarez y Luis Miguel Renjifo por permitirnos revisar sus colecciones: Walter en una ocasión inclusive llegó a enviarnos algunos trabajos por correo bajo petición de pronta devolución, lo cual excedió su paciencia para con nosotros y le estamos doblemente agradecidos. Al Banco de Sonidos Animales del Instituto Alexander von Humboldt Colombia, de donde hemos obtenido información valiosa de modo permanente por medio de M. Álvarez. A Paul Salaman quién de manera desprendida nos obsequió algunos trabajos. A Greg Budney (Laboratory of Ornithology, Cornell University), nuevamente J. Vielliard (Archivo Sonoro Neotropical, Sao Paulo) y Richard Ranft (National Sound Archive, U.K.) por su paciencia y comentarios varios. A Johan D. Frisch por facilitar la adquisición de varios de sus discos. A Janeth Muñoz Saba, Fernando Fernández y Diego Campos por transportar en sus viajes fuera de Colombia varios títulos que nos faltaban. A Gabriel Pizano (Ministerio de Relaciones Exteriores de Colombia) por permitirnos copiar datos de LPs inconseguibles. A la Sociedad Ornitológica del Plata - Aves Argentinas (Buenos Aires) por permitir consultar su colección hacia 1995. A Eugenio Coconier de la biblioteca de Aves Argentinas por su colaboración epistolar. A Roberto Straneck (Museo de Ciencias Naturales Bernardino Rivadavia, Buenos Aires) y Lang Elliot por consejos y facilitación de información. A Andrés Sepúlveda (EE.UU) y su familia por enviarnos desde Chile otros títulos sin ni siquiera intuir nuestra petición. A la familia Caro Ramírez por permitirnos recibir correspondencia en Bogotá. A María Cristina López Alconada (Mar del Plata-Argentina) por su apoyo al proyecto. Y de manera especial a Christian Devenish por traducir este texto al inglés.

Apéndice 1. Guías sonoras: títulos compilados para América.

- Ingresado = trabajos cargados al compendio.
 - Títulos subrayados indica que el producto no fue ingresado al compendio hasta contar con los datos respectivos.
 - Más de un año indica edición original y ediciones actualizadas. Los datos del editor corresponden a la versión más nueva.
 - Cuando aparece un título en itálicas, corresponde a un producto publicado pero de edición 'especial': supeditado a la distribución personal del autor.
 - El símbolo "•" indica productos que deben ser estudiados para corroborar si las especies corresponden al continente americano, si presentan cortes con especies de aves, o si se trata de una guía sonora; = supeditado al estudio del producto.

CATALOGUE OF AUDIO GUIDES TO THE BIRDS OF THE AMERICAS

Launch Introduction →  Introduction.doc (Microsoft Word is required)

Launch Catalogue →  Catalogue.xls (Microsoft Excel is required)

The 103 titles analysed gave a total 3147 bird species represented by more than 12,300 tracks. This number of species compared to the total of 4445 for the Americas indicates that almost three quarters (70.6%) of the American birds are represented in audio guides at present. The remaining 56 titles to be entered will surely increase these already remarkable figures.

Independently to whether a product is currently available on the market or not, this project provides the possibility to consult all the bird recordings published. Our idea is to create awareness of these products even if they cannot be easily obtained either through their purchase or their copying, in the case of out of print titles. Surprisingly, many university and biology faculty libraries do not have these recordings. We hope to highlight this deficiency through the present data base. This project will also be useful in deciding on priority species to release on new audio guides. The criteria of a subspecies not represented on any recording can thus take precedence over simply choosing recordings for their optimum quality. For those cases in which the 99 tracks on a CD are still a poor representation of the total material available, this data base hopes to influence those people who have to make these decisions. It is a different matter choosing a recording of a species already mentioned in this data base to one never before released.

How to interpret information contained in the data base:

Note that genus, species and subspecies are in italics, followed by the vernacular name in English ('specific and 'generic'). Author(s) come before year of release, title and record company/publisher. In all cases a consecutive numeration is shown in the first column (No.) for the whole data base. The second column (Quantity) refers to the number of independent volumes in each title. Volume is understood as the number of LPs, cassettes, CDs or CD-ROMs conforming the work. The third column (Side A/B) indicates the side of the cassette or LP in which to locate the track in question. The fourth column (Track) indicates the track number of the particular species, identical to the track number on the original product. For those cases in which no numerical listing is provided (some cassettes) the tracks were numbered in order of appearance, as in CDs. Open the file 'catalogo.xls' as a spreadsheet.

CATÁLOGO DE GUÍAS AUDITIVAS PARA LAS AVES DE AMÉRICA

CATALOGO DAS GUIAS SONORAS DAS AVES DE AMERICA

List of commercially available recordings of the birds of the American Continent.

Preface

A “Catalogue of Audio Guides to the Birds of the Americas (Version I: August 2001)” is a tool which easily allows the user to find the bird species of the continent or adjacent islands represented on commercially available LPs, cassettes, compact discs or CD-ROMs. By means of a systematic or taxonomic search information can be found on genus, species, English names, author, date, title, record company, and track number on the disc or cassette for the species in question.

Although this project started as an impractical ambition due to the complexity of the information and its organisation, it provides a much needed tool for the ornithological community. As a widely travelled ornithologist in many South American countries (BLL), and despite a great passion for bird sounds, the biggest obstacle to obtaining these recordings has always been this lack of information. That is, where can one find or even ask for information on bird recordings? Even with a resource such as internet, one often cannot find more than a few dozen titles, and many less when it comes to looking for them in libraries or buying them.

After a meticulous search we calculate that there are, or were, some 159 recordings commercially released for the Americas to date. Of these, most are obtainable in an orthodox manner, either through internet or by writing to the authors. It would seem that the slow process of contacting a sound archive is not always the most practical way of obtaining the desired bird sounds. After a careful analysis we found that with three quarters of the material entered into this data base 3146 species of a total 4453 for the continent have recordings available to the general public.

In spite of the hard and tedious work, taking up our spare time, our financial situation and even eagerness were not enough to allow us to acquire the missing quarter of the available material. In practical terms, this means that although the Neotropics are well covered and up to date, from the first recordings by D. Frisch and J. Linblad to the latest releases of this year, North America has been rather neglected and is underrepresented.

The material that has not yet been entered into the data base is listed in Appendix 1. If any other titles are inadvertently missing from the total list (note this version is preliminary) then we would be very grateful to receive this information in the form of track lists or announcements of new releases. Please use the address provided below. Similarly, as this data base has been conceived as a non-profit making project we would not be adverse to authors and record companies asking to be included in the list in exchange for a copy of their products (if at all possible) or at least a list of species included. This was the vision of N. Krabbe, J. Viellard and J. Moore whose support for this project has been invaluable.

We are looking forward to receiving comments, criticisms, requests for changes, advice and of course friendship in order to keep this compendium constantly updated. Those working in the Neotropics will find that there are only 13 titles left to include in the data base. For the Nearctic region we are pleased to have entered the most representative works so far.

Independently to whether a product is currently available on the market or not, this project provides the possibility to consult all the bird recordings published. Our idea is to create awareness of these products even if they cannot be easily obtained either through their purchase or their copying, in the case of out of print titles. Surprisingly, many university and biology faculty libraries do not have these recordings. We hope to highlight this deficiency through the present data base.

This project will also be useful in deciding on priority species to release on new audio guides. The criteria of a subspecies not represented on any recording can thus take precedence over simply choosing recordings for their optimum quality. For those cases in which the 99 tracks on a CD are still a poor representation of the total material available, this data base hopes to influence those people who have to make these decisions. It is a different matter choosing a recording of a species already mentioned in this data base to one never before released.

Hopefully we hereby demonstrate that in compiling this catalogue we have not misspent our time but have provided a useful product for the study of ornithology, the conservation of birds, and their identification by means of vocalisations.

Methods

In this project an audio guide is taken to mean any product that contains recordings of animal sounds with a list of species in order of appearance permitting their identification. Those works containing music or other arrangements other than natural background noises were not included as they are not strictly considered to be audio guides, even though they may include a species list. Other products with bird recordings were discarded for not providing sufficient information for the identification of the species included. Videos were also excluded for the same reason.

The complete range of existent commercial titles offering bird sounds from the American Continent was compiled (LPs, cassettes, compact discs and CD-ROMs). Products containing recordings of island species, for example, Galapagos and Hawaii were included in agreement with the list of bird species of America compiled by BirdLife International (1997) and also for being part of the continent in geopolitical terms.

A record was made of all the labels, booklets and covers of the titles included in order to consult this information from a single source. Information was then processed from this source, organised in alphabetical order of the first author's surname. Each title was consulted in personal or institutional collections as is set out in the acknowledgements. Some titles were obtained through donations after having been requested specifically for this project. All personally produced products without publicly available counterparts were excluded (whether for profit or not).

This compilation only uses one spreadsheet. The information from each product is arranged in columns in the following order:

Number of LPs, CDs, cassettes or CD-ROMs for each title. In the case of cassettes and LPs, side A or B is also noted. In the case of LPs or CDs the track number is noted, and in the case of cassettes the tracks are numbered in order of appearance of the species. The products on CD-ROM do not include a track number due to their systematic and/or virtual organisation. No products on DAT, DVD or mini disc were included as no commercial titles exist in any of these formats in America.

Genus, species, and subspecies according to the taxonomy presented in BirdLife International (1997) are in the following columns. In the case of a genus or species name differing on the product to the above mentioned listing both were noted, first the name following BirdLife and then the name appearing on the product in brackets. The same applies to the vernacular name in English. In this way it is hoped to overcome problems resulting from changes in taxonomy at the same time making it possible to locate species according to their name on the source. In the case of subspecies being elevated to species status the original species name is left in the data base. It is hoped that the user will be able to work out from recording notes, geographical data, etc, which species this now refers to (especially relevant in titles appearing over a decade ago).

The English names were separated and placed in different columns, first the specific and then the generic in the same way as the scientific names. This increases the reading velocity and allows filters and other search functions to be executed more efficiently in the spreadsheet. In all cases authors were noted in order of appearance in consecutive columns by surname (with initials). The year of release follows and in the case of titles with more than one edition, the dates of these editions as well. The title of the product is written in full including subtitles. Finally the editor or producer is noted.

In cases where more than one edition exists for a product only the most recent release was loaded onto the data base. On occasions where other species are recorded as well as the principal species this information is recorded with the same track number. As a result in some cases taxa not covered under the title of a product are included, for example Tinamous in a product dedicated to Woodcreepers.

For reasons outlined above the total number of species indicated in the data base should be seen as adjustable. An analysis by name would give a slightly different figure to that given above.

Notes

Schulenberg (2000a and b) and Schulenberg et al (2000a, b and c) contain almost the same tracks as Cornell Laboratory of Ornithology (1997a, b, c and d).

In this version (Version I: August 2001) information referring to Krabbe (1999a and b) in some cases lacks information for subspecies (present in the original). In the case of multimedia products, due to the lack of numeration, it is not possible to alert the user when a species appears as secondary to the principal species of a track. For example, in this data base it is not possible to pinpoint numerically a species such as Buteogallus meridionalis (Savanna Hawk) which is not present in Volume I of the above cited work, Birds of Ecuador, but appears as a secondary species amongst the suboscines of Volume II.

As mere compilers BLL and VC do not accept any responsibility for errors or omissions that may have occurred in some of these audio guides, common sense and good judgement is requested on the part of the user.

General Results and Comments

Note: This section is subject to constant change due to the updating of the information.

One hundred and fifty-nine published titles were found, a further seven are in preparation giving a total of 166 known titles of bird recordings of the American Continent. The Neotropics have a total of 76 titles, the Nearctic 62, three are global and 13 cover the Americas in general. Of the 159, 103 were analysed and entered into the data base, leaving 56 yet to be entered (or 63 counting those still in preparation).

Of the 74 titles for the Neotropics 61 were loaded onto the data base, leaving 13 yet to be entered, namely: Egli Müller (1980?), Ferraro (2001?), Huguet & Tostain (?), Gonzaga & Castiglioni (2001), Gilardi (1997), Mathew (without date, a and b), Roché (2000a and c), Rosane (?), Ross (without date) and Schwartz (without date, a and b). See appendix 1. The present compendium covers 82% of the recordings available for the Neotropics.

Of the 67 titles for the Nearctic 33 were loaded onto the data base, leaving 34 yet to be entered, see Appendix 1. Almost 50% of the titles for this region are included in the data base, the most important works, however, have already been entered. 'Most important' is understood to mean those titles that cover the whole of North America or specific regions. In several cases these titles accompany field guides to North American birds. Some of the works yet to be included are CD-ROM versions very similar to products already entered into the data base, e.g. Peterson, ed (? a, b, and c) is similar to Cornell Laboratory of Ornithology (1990, 1992) and Walton & Lawson (1989 a, and b, 1991, 1994) since they belong to the same collection (Peterson Field Guide Series). The same is true of the National Geographic Society collection.

Three titles of global coverage including Neotropical and Nearctic elements have still to be entered into the data base; Ranft (1998), Koenig et al (1999) and Koenig & Ranft (2001). Works covering the Americas in general have all been entered into the data base (works arranged by family).

The 103 titles analysed gave a total 3146 bird species represented by more than 12,300 tracks. This number of species compared to the total of 4453* for the Americas indicates that almost three quarters (70.6%) of the American birds are represented in audio guides at present. The remaining 56 (63) titles to be entered will surely increase these already remarkable figures.

* Total taken from the 4342 species in BirdLife International (1997) plus 111 extras taking into account the original taxonomy of the authors of the products. Note that synonyms may have been included.

Note ^a: López-Lanús & Caro (in prep) will carry out a detailed analysis of the results of this compendium comparing percentage availability of recordings by genera and family, percentage cover by region and country, lists of threatened species covered by audio guides, etc., once the remaining titles have been included.

Note ^b: An updated version will be released every six months. We recommend that users consult this web page on a regular basis, at least twice a year (late June and late December) to update their information. First release: Version I: August 2001.

List of Audio Guides according to Species

The data base is presented as a spreadsheet (see below). We recommend that it is downloaded onto computers in a separate file (.xls) to this introductory document. The titles in each column are self explicatory. Appendix 1 gives bibliographic information for each title in the data base. Appendix 2 gives a selection of web pages where some of these audio guides may be obtained.

This data base is completely free and in some respects 'informal'. However, the compilers request that the work is cited as below should it be mentioned in any publication.

Acknowledgements

Firstly we are greatly indebted to Jacques Vielliard, John V. Moore and Niels Krabbe for their generous donation of audio guides. To Walter H. Weber, Mauricio Álvarez and Luis Miguel Renjifo for allowing us to review their collections. Walter even sent us titles by post requesting their prompt return, however, we soon tried his patience and are therefore doubly grateful. To the Animal Sound Bank at the Instituto Alexander von Humboldt, Colombia, where we were always able to obtain valuable information from M. Alvarez. To Paul Salaman who generously gave us some titles. To Greg Budney (Laboratory of Ornithology, Cornell University), again to J. Vielliard (Archivo Sonoro Neotropical, Sao Paulo) and Richard Ranft (National Sound Archive, U.K.) for their patience and general comments. To Johan D. Frisch for enabling us to obtain several of his titles. To Janeth Muñoz Saba, Fernando Fernández and Diego Campos for bringing back several titles from trips outside Colombia. To Gabriel Pizano (Ministerio de Relaciones Exteriores de Colombia – Foreign Office) for allowing us to copy deleted LPs. To the Sociedad Ornitológica del Plata - Aves Argentinas (Buenos Aires) for allowing us to consult their collection in 1995. To Eugenio Cocnier from the Biblioteca de Aves Argentinas for his collaboration by correspondence. To Roberto Straneck (Museo de Ciencias Naturales Bernardino Rivadavia, Buenos Aires) and Lang Elliot for advice and information. To Andrés Sepúlveda (USA) and his family for sending us titles from Chile without them even having been requested. To the family Caro Ramírez for allowing us to receive correspondence in Bogota. To María Cristina López Alconada (Mar del Plata-Argentina) for her support for the project. And a special thanks to Christian Devenish for translating this text into English.

Appendix 1. Audio Guides: compiled titles for the Americas

- When 'Included' appears after a title this indicates that it has been entered into the data base.
- An underlined title indicates that the authors are waiting for more information to be able to include it in the data base.
- If more than one date is given these refer to the original edition and subsequent editions. The information which follows corresponds to the most up to date version.
- A title in italics corresponds to a 'special edition': subject to personal distribution by the author.
- The symbol "●" indicates the need to study a product in more detail to check whether it includes tracks of American species and "≡" when there is uncertainty as to its status as an audio guide.
